Library Kick-off Coffee Monday Open to Public

"Anyone who desires may attend the opening kick-off for the Library Fund Drive Monday morning, April 4," announced drive chairman Mrs. Clay Cooper Saturday. Mrs. Cooper added that she was delighted with the great amount of interest and response of the public in connection with the drive.

The coffee was formerly planned as a committee only but because of the public interest it was decided to open the meeting to the public. All business will be conducted in the presence of those who attend the coffee. All those who desire to help or learn precisely what is being done should be present.

The coffee is being held at the library on 16th Street about a half a block south of the square. During the time the people are enjoying their coffee they may browse around the library if they desire and see what the condition and selection of books are like. It is one way they can learn just what the library has to offer.

The drive will be for the purpose of raising cash to buy new books or having some older books re-bound. As the drive was being discussed it was also suggested that books be taken if anyone had some they desired to donate. A discussion with several authorities proved this a worthy suggestion so it was decided to expand the drive into two prongs for either books or cash. The goal of the drive is 1,000 books; 500 new ones and 500 replacements.

Donations may be made through any committee member or by telephoning the Chamber of Commerce, 5-3201. Committee members are Mrs. Tony Dewey, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. Joe Gibson, Mrs. Lon Fanning, Milton Morris, Truett Hull, Mrs. Levi Cole, Bill Wilson, Charles Donnell, Dan Sanders, Mrs. Clyde Warwick, Roland Black, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller, Mrs. Boone McClure, Mrs. Robert P. Jarrett, Mrs. I. F. SoRelle, and Mrs. T. H. Knighton.

Dr. C. E. Evans Traces History Of Texas Schools

Dr. C. E. Evans traces education in the Lone Star State from 1519 to the present in this new volume, the first book of its kind to be published in more than 25 years.

The book contains material not readily accessible to the average researcher. Accounts of leading schools and colleges in present-day Texas as well as many early-day Texas schools are included.

In succeeding chapters the author treats various aspects of educational development at different levels, giving separate treatment to the education of women, special education, and the education of Negroes. Also considered are problems of religion and public education, equalization, textbooks, teacher retirement, certification of teachers.

Dr. Evans has served schools in Texas in various capacities for more than 60 years. Prior to 1911 he was superintendent of schools in Anson and in Abilene. From 1911 to 1942, he was president of Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos. Since 1942 he has served the college as president emeritus. During the years he was college president, Dr. Evans served on the State Textbook Committee, the State Textbook Board, the Texas Accrediting Committee, and many other boards and commissions.

"The Story of Texas Schools" is a fitting climax to the career of the "dean of Texas educators."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith of Amarillo are the parents of a six pound, three ounce boy, born March 17, in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. The baby has been named Otis Lee. The mother will be remembered as Bonita Brown.

Cars Must Have '55 Tags Friday

Friday is the final date for buying 1955 car license tags.

Tax Collector Bill Money is ready for a big rush for the office in Canyon and South Amarillo. Both offices will be ready to give quick service, with additional help being added to take care of the last minute buyers.

Experienced car dealers stated Tuesday that the rush had not hit, as there were many car owners who had not yet bought their 1955 license plates.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Bellah and baby are here from San Antonio where he is in the Air Force. He has a ten days leave, after which he will go to Tokyo, Japan, for further assignment.

Tax Assessor To Handle All Revaluations

Tax Collector Bill Money has been given the job of making a full and complete survey of all property in Randall county for taxation purposes.

Mr. Money will have at his command special rendition blanks, printed on 3-ply index bristol by The Canyon News on which all improvements will be listed of all property in Randall county.

When his job is finished, the Commissioners Court will place a value on the improvements.

The revaluation comes as a result of opposition expressed by Amarillo citizens who live in Randall county that taxable values of business and residences in that part of Amarillo were excessive to the amount of taxes paid by farmers.

Bids were called for by the court to do the revaluation job, and only one bid was received. When a vote was taken on the question of hiring tax experts, the vote was three to two. When a vote was taken on the question of hiring the one bidder, the vote was one for to three against.

A petition was filed by a group of farmers who expressed opposition to such a survey being made at this time, and the employment of outside assistance to do the job.

Tax Assessor Money was given the necessary blanks by the Commissioners Court and instructed to put on a force to do the work starting April 1st, or as soon as car licenses are out of the way.

Election of School Trustees On Saturday

There are two trustees to be elected in the annual school trustee election Saturday, and only two names will appear on the official ballot which will be presented to the voters.

A petition was filed recently with the names of many voters asking that J. O. Parker and Conway Kuykendall serve on the school board for the coming three years. Their names will appear on the official ballots.

The school is making wonderful progress, and therefore the two men will likely have no opposition at the polls.

All qualified voters are urged to go to the polls and vote for these men on Saturday.

The group Tuesday will be in Farwell, 10 a. m.; Clovis, N. M., 3 p. m.; and Muleshoe, 8 p. m. On Wednesday, concerts will be given at 10 a. m. in Plainview and at 8 p. m. in Shamrock. The tour winds up in Pampa at 9:40 a. m. and Borger at 1 p. m. on Thursday, April 7.

Spur Sets Cattle Feeder Field Day

A cattle feeders field day will be held Tuesday, April 5, at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Spur, according to John Brazzil, county agent for Randall county. He said the main feature of the day would include results of feeding trials with terramycin and the new harmone, diethylstilbestrol. There will be a summary of wintering trials with calves on native grass, wheat, stalk fields, and in the feeding lot over a 15-year period discussed.

The county agent said the program at Spur will begin at 9 a. m. and continue until 5 p. m. There will probably be several county livestock feeders who will make the trip. Anyone interested in going on this trip is asked to contact Mr. Brazzil within the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Tabor spent from Thursday until Sunday in Clyde in the home of his mother, Mrs. C. V. Tabor, and sisters, Miss Anna Belle Tabor and Mrs. Jewel Lee Swanzy.

50 Caps Here Given Sheriff By Two Boys

Following the fire which destroyed the Fred Sorgee home, boys were prowling the remains and discovered 50 dynamite caps in the well house at the place. The two boys, 8 and 10 years of age, brought the caps to the office of Sheriff L. S. Johnston, telling officers of the find.

Mr. Sorgee stated that he bought the caps more than 25 years ago to blast a trail into the Palo Duro Canyon in order to haul out wood. He stored the caps in the outhouse and had forgotten that they were in there.

Fortunately this house was not burned when the residence was destroyed by flames. Had the house caught on fire, the caps no doubt would have injured either the firemen or large crowd which had gathered around the blaze.

The caps were taken to the county and exploded Sunday night. The boys carried their load in their pockets, and a mishap could have set off just one cap and proven fatal to the boys.

The Vocational Service Committee will meet from 4 until 5 o'clock, to which all Canyon business leaders are invited. The dinner will be served at 7:30 o'clock, followed by the speaking engagement of Dr. Sartain.

Highway Signs Are Wrecked by a Car

The Sheriff's Department was called upon to trace a car which had run over and destroyed highway signs along Highways 60 and 87 north of Canyon Sunday night.

The officer who investigated the act of violence states that the signs were run over carefully so that the car used would not be damaged.

Only traffic signs of one post were molested.

Expressway Was Subject of Court

Right-of-way purchase of Randall county for the new expressway between Canyon and Amarillo was discussed Thursday by the Commissioners Court.

The preliminary plan of the engineers has been sent to Austin for discussion by the State Engineer and members of his staff.

It was stated that the engineering with water draining which must be done in the city limits of Amarillo will be a much greater job for the engineers than all of the highway between the two towns.

The meeting Thursday was called for the purpose of discussing the problem which confronts the commissioners in buying right-of-way between Memiry Gardens and the home of Senator Grady Hazlewood. Senator Hazlewood was here from Austin to attend the meeting, and the Gardens was represented by an attorney.

Mr. Hazlewood has a bill pending before the legislature which seeks to put an end to the practice of building cemeteries along main highways. He is opposed to Randall county taking more of his land for highways 60 and 87.

No decision was reached about values which will be set on land along the expressway.

75 Year Old Woman Sought For Picture

A nation-wide search to find the most photogenic and charming woman now 75 years of age has been launched by the Photographers' Association of America (with headquarters at 152 West Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee 3, Wisconsin) in conjunction with its Diamond Jubilee Year celebration, it has been announced by James Pickands, II, president, of New Haven, Connecticut.

All women who were born in 1880, the year the Photographers' Association of America was founded, are eligible to join the "Sweet 75 Contest." All a woman has to do to enter the country-wide contest is to have a photograph taken at the studio of a member of the Association. She must be in good health, able to travel and prepared to establish proof of her age.

Harp Studio of Canyon is participating in the national "Sweet 75 Contest" as a local member of the PA of A.

Any 75 year old lady who would like to enter may call Harp Studio 5-3993 for appointment to have picture taken at no charge.

The Sweet 75 Contest winner will be selected by a group of internationally famous women respected for their civic and cultural achievements.

The grand prize winner will be the guest of honor at the Photographers' Association Diamond Jubilee birthday party and convention at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, August 15 to 19.

4-H Boys Plan Safety Program

The Umbarger 4-H Club boys are planning a program on farm safety. They have just started the program in the past week and have ordered a package of reflective scotchlite tape to be placed on farm equipment. This tape is to be placed on such equipment as tractors, trailers, combines, and plows that may be on the road at night while moving them from one field to another.

The boys will put the tape on the equipment for a small charge. In their first order they have enough tape to take care of about 75 pieces of equipment.

One of the reasons the boys selected the safety project is the fact that in the past recent years there have been big increases in rural accidents. These accidents involve farm machinery and in a large percentage of the cases such accidents have proven fatal. Many of the accidents are caused by slow moving, heavy farm machinery being on the road at night and not having reflectors or tail lights on them.

The Umbarger boys hope to have a large percentage of the equipment in their community protected by reflector tape before the season of heavy use for this equipment begins this spring. People in the Umbarger community who have not had a chance to get this tape should contact the 4-H Club boys soon and arrange to have it put on their equipment.

The building will be extended south to the alley, with a door south of R. B. Allen's office which will lead into the conference door for ASC.

Opera Workshop Comes 2 Nights

The contrasting humor of the early 1900's and of contemporary times will be evident in the two comic operas slated for production Thursday and Friday nights by the Opera Workshop at West Texas State College.

"Gianni Schicchi" by Puccini and "Sunday Excursion" by Alec Wilder, both short one-act operas, will be presented each night on a twin-bill, at 8 p. m. in the Education Auditorium. Tickets are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students and children. Director is Royal Brantley, assistant professor of music.

The Puccini work, one of two short operas by the famed composer of "La Boheme" and "Madame Butterfly," makes use of slapstick and the very obvious humor, Brantley said. Called "opera buffo," "Gianni Schicchi" (pronounced "Johnny Skeekee"), is reminiscent of the early Keystone Kops, Laurel & Hardy comedies produced by the infant movie industry.

Contemporary composer Alec Wilder's "Sunday Excursion" employs more subtle comedy, taking to that of modern movie comedies, the director said. The "Sunday Excursion" cast is small and deals with its comic situation with more attention to detail and character.

"We are happy to present these two short comedies," Brantley said. "An habitual attitude toward opera, long held and unthinkingly followed, is that opera, to be opera, must be rather stuffy in style, grandiose in manner, and sung in a foreign language. Opera, whether tragic or comic, should be good entertainment, well understood and thoroughly enjoyed."

Laid in Florence, Italy, in 1229, "Gianni" is the story of a family alternately mourning the loss of a rich uncle and plotting to break his will. The group grows weary of the mourning which convention demands, and begin thinking of the wealth they hope to inherit. When the will is found, the greedy relatives send for Gianni Schicchi, a man of doubtful reputation whose daughter one of the relatives hopes to marry.

Schicchi makes a plan to impersonate the dead man, whose demise is not yet known, call in a notary and witnesses, and change the will. He notes the demands of each relative, and each attempts to bribe Schicchi for additional plunder. Schicchi dictates a will which is not quite according to plan.

"Sunday Excursion" is the story of two college couples in 1910, returning from a Sunday outing aboard a train. They become acquainted, and their excursion, heretofore a failure, becomes a success.

William A. Moore, assistant professor of speech, is stage director for the operas, and William O. Latson, assistant professor of music, has prepared the orchestra. Miss Matilda Gaume is rehearsal accompanist.

Canyon Out of Race Cowboy Hall Fame

The Hall of Fame for cowboy and rodeo performers will be located in Dodge City, Kansas, Oklahoma City or Colorado Springs, according to announcement made Thursday by Ray Schnell of Dickinson, N. D., who was chairman of the inspection committee which visited Canyon last week.

Canyon had offered three locations. The museum was ruled out by pre-inspection terms of the committee; the site on the College Farm north of Canyon was ruled out because it was not on a prominent site, being near the old T-Anchor headquarters house, which was erected in 1878, and was the first house in the Panhandle. The third site east of Canyon was ruled out because it was not on a main highway, but on the Goodnight Trail, and does not carry national travel.

After the terms of the location had been received it was pretty well agreed that Canyon would not have a chance for the location.

The directors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society agreed they were not interested in the project if it was going to be just another rodeo display. The museum now houses more of the cattle range material than the Hall of Fame could expect to assemble in a dozen years or more.

While the promoters of the project talked about a $300,000 building, no money had been raised, and none was in prospect for the enterprise. It was assumed that the money would come largely from the state in which the Hall of Fame was located. No provision was made for the upkeep of the building.

It was rumored that both Oklahoma City and Colorado Springs had indicated a willingness to build the Hall of Fame and give the building to the group as a museum. This fact will not be revealed until the full committee meets in Denver on April 15 and the final selection is announced.

The committee visiting Canyon was composed of Ray Schnell, Albert Mitchell of Albert, N. M., A. M. G. Swenson of Stamford, Fred H. Dressler of Gardnersville, Nev., and John D. Lewis of Montecello, Utah.

The editing committee which is to work up material for programs is headed by Mrs. Cecil Simms. Members are Waylon Carroll, F. G. Collard, Joe Batson, and R. C. Simpson, Jr.

The next regular meeting for the group is Tuesday, April 5. Once more the board of supervisors will conduct their meeting here.

Librarians To Attend Meeting

Joe H. Bailey, librarian at West Texas State College, and Mrs. Linnie Harter, WT Elementary School librarian, will attend the 42nd annual convention of the Texas Library Association Wednesday through Saturday in Corpus Christi.

Theme of the conference will be "Books: From Writer to Reader," according to Miss Eleanor Alexander, director of library services, Houston Public Schools. Miss Alexander is president of the association.

Three general sessions as well as breakfasts, luncheons, dinners of special groups, and boat trips on the Gulf will bring the librarian, writer, publisher, and reader together to discuss the printed word.

Greenbugs Lose Wheat to Drouth

Greenbugs are running a poor second to the drouth this year. This was the general consensus of the interview with County Agent John Brazzil late last week. John said there were a few greenbugs about the country but that the main factor limiting the wheat crop was the dry weather.

The county agent said that in a few cases greenbugs had been found doing considerable damage on irrigated wheat particularly that which has not been grazed. He said farmers have not attempted any type of control against the greenbugs because weather conditions were limiting wheat crops so that it would not be profitable to spend money to get rid of greenbugs.

It was explained that on the last inspection tour made many brown wheat mites were found doing some damage. These are common on wheat here in the spring time but once more the lack of rain prevents any type of control.

Greenbugs are still something of a mystery to agricultural experts. They have not been able to get any definite pattern of reproduction from this insect. As Brazzil pointed out, in 1951 greenbugs almost destroyed the wheat crops in this area but in 1952 there was an excellent crop of wheat and no greenbugs.

DHIA News Lists Local Dairy Herds

Neil Downing, one of the local dairymen, came up with the winning high cow for milk and butterfat production in Randall County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of February. The bulletin listing the honors was released last week by the organization's supervisor, Harold L. Hershey.

Other dairymen winning honors were Louis Hinders, Haleswood Farms, and Richmond Hales. The monthly bulletin lists the herds in each of the various categories of milk and butterfat production.

Saving Bond Sales Are Running Behind

According to the report for February, savings bond sales in Randall county are running a little behind the district average.

Randall county citizens have bought 21.96% of the 1955 quota during the first two months of the year. The district average is 25.90%.

Carson county led the district with 62.30% of the year's quota sold. Carson was a state leader, with 19.76% of the sales credited. Armstrong was second; Potter, third; Deaf Smith, fourth; Randall, fifth.

This Amarillo district led the state, with Fort Worth second and Houston third.

Test Well Hits Granite

Work on the test well being drilled southeast of Canyon was stopped Sunday night when granite was hit at 8480 feet.

The contract for the well was for 8500 feet, or granite. It was planned to go deeper if the formation was permitted at 8500 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Irby Carruth were here Saturday looking over their land on which the test is being drilled. Mr. Carruth is superintendent of the Austin public schools. This was their first visit to the test well site.

No word has been put out by the drillers as to the future tests for oil. This test is reported to have cost $175,000.

Mrs. N. T. Dickerson of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. F. E. Smith of Winter Garden, Fla., are visiting with their mother, Mrs. Addie Hefner, and sisters, Mrs. Jay Prichard and Mrs. C. O. Elkins.

Clarendon Does Not Like Way Delegation Was Treated

The Donley County Leader took a slap at Big Amarillo in the issue of March 17.

The situation was brought about when the entire membership of the Clarendon Lions Club visited the Amarillo club, which had sponsored their organization, 33 years ago. Clarendon was returning the visit of the neighboring club.

According to The Leader, the big boys of Amarillo completely ignored their country cousins. Wes Izzard, who was scheduled to make a speech, failed to show up; the Globe-News failed to have a photographer on the job; there was no police escort for the 80 Clarendon Lions who rode in 26 cars.

The Leader goes on to charge that the only interest Amarillo has in their neighbors is the dollars the country towns people spend in the big city. This money, if spent in Clarendon, would make Clarendon a bigger and better town, The Leader says.

True enough, but just let the Clarendon paper urge Clarendon people to trade at home, and you will see the same thing happen as happened when The Canyon News urged that Canyon people spend their money in Canyon. There was an avalanche of protests against the very idea of Canyon people helping Canyon business men one wee bit in their attempt to make Canyon a better place in which to live. Canyon folks were of the opinion that they should spend their money where they pleased. We have quit being a Moses to lead the Canyon people from their worldly way. After all, the local newspaper will not get far in such a promotion.

Shivers Has Good Argument For Increasing Gasoline Tax

Governor Shivers and members of the State Highway Commission have a strong argument to produce for Texas increasing the gasoline tax.

At the present time State taxes on gasoline range from 3 to 7 cents per gallon. Texas collects 4 cents.

The average fuel tax for all States in the Union now is 5.1 cents per gallon as compared with 4.83 cents in 1952.

In 1953, California increased its State tax 1½ cents per gallon, or 6 cents at the present time.

Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Nebraska and Ohio increased their gasoline tax by 1 cent per gallon. All now have taxes amounting to 5 cents per gallon, or 1 cent more than Texas.

New Jersey and Missouri alone have lower gasoline taxes than Texas, 3 cents per gallon.

Five States have the same tax, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Indiana and Wisconsin.

All of the 39 remaining States have a higher gasoline tax than Texas.

Texas cannot build all of the roads and highways that the people want, need and demand without more money. When the federal government rescinds its gasoline tax, perhaps there will be a real relief in taxation. If and when!

In the meanwhile, let it be remembered that folks will keep their cars running even though they cannot afford to buy clothing for their family. The car is all important!

Santa Fe Was Again Given Boot By Government Postal Service

A story was carried in last week's issue of The Canyon News indicating that all mail in and out of Canyon would be carried by truck starting on April 24th.

Naturally it is against better judgment to critize the postal department for trying to set up a system of mail which will serve all towns and along the line. They are supposed to know their business better than any layman.

However, it appears to The Canyon News that the postoffice department is going all out to interfere with private enterprise. They are substituting their own mail trucks for railroad equipment, which has served Canyon for such a long time.

The excuse is given that there has been much criticism of the service by smaller towns along the line. If Canyon had just one mail per day perhaps we would feel the same way as some of these towns do.

But let it be remembered that the Santa Fe is a big taxpayer in every country through which its lines run. The Santa Fe is entitled to the business of each and every community.

The postoffice department is certainly not doing everything possible to make the Santa Fe a greater railroad, but is throwing every block in its way as the future develops.

Randall County Car Owners Must Pay Overtime Parking

If you live in Randall county and are caught overparking your car in Amarillo, you will be assessed a fine.

If you live in any other county, the judge smiles and tells you that it is against the law, and not to do it again.

The trouble is that so many Randall county folks live in South Amarillo, and if Randall county was exempted like other counties are, there would be too many law breakers. Not that the folks who live in the north part of Randall county are any worse than the average run of citizens, but when they know that they will be excused for having broken the law, there is a tendency on the part of the most law abiding to ignore the law.

Since Potter county is trying to develop a cordial feeling toward all citizens in this great Plains, no one can but blame the officers up there if Amarillo fails in their duty. The business houses naturally like to see the dollars roll toward Amarillo, just as we, here in Canyon, are happy when the dollars roll into our tills.

There is no reason for society to worship at the shrine of the selfish or unscrupulous business man who has wangled a fortune by stepping on others.

We are already worrying about hauling off the large crop from our vegetable garden, the worries stemming from pictures in the seed catalogues.

And then there is the Congressman who becomes alarmed over some minor issue and missed the great questions of the day completely.

Paper Work of Government Costs Each Family Around $100

The Canyon News has published several articles on the foolishness of the government in paper work. Former President Herbert Hoover has been interested in revamping the government in order to save money.

If yours is an average American family it costs you the neat sum of $100 a year just to pay your share of the paperwork done by the federal government.

That is one of the startling facts produced in a newly-published Hoover Commission report, which goes into the paperwork problem in detail and makes certain recommendations for reorganization and reform.

Everyone who has served in one of the armed forces has had personal experience with the extent and complexity of government record keeping and other paperwork. It has been the subject of innumerable jokes and anecdotes. But it's no laughing matter, when considered in the light of its cost in time, effort and money. And, while this is a problem of some magnitude in industry as well, it seems that it has reached its most acute and wasteful form in the huge federal establishment.

As a result of a prior Hoover Commission study, changes were made in methods of handling government records that have saved nearly $35,000,000 in a single year. But that notable effort has touched upon only a relatively small portion of the government's paperwork activity. According to this new report, the government creates and handles some 25,000,000,000 pieces of paper each year, not counting that used in manuals, pamphlets, and the like. This requires the services of more than 750,000 full-time employees. And it costs $4,000,000,000 a year—which, by way of comparison, is about equal to the whole federal budget prior to 22 years ago!

The paperwork takes various forms. Some 18,000,000,000 of the sheets are printed or mimeographed. More than 1,000,000,000 are individual letters—and to write these costs $1,000,000,000 or a dollar each. The government has hundreds of millions of dollars invested in office equipment, and office space for the paperwork employees costs $180,000,000 annually. There are more than 24,000,000 cubic feet of federal agency records—which, the report observes, are enough to fill seven buildings the size of the gigantic Pentagon.

The increase in paperwork came, of course, with the enormous growth of the government in recent years. And, in some instances at least, the paperwork grew far faster. In 1912 writing of individual letters per government employee totaled 55; now it totals about 522 a year. In addition to the cost in money, the volume of paperwork imposed upon top federal employees interferes with their basic responsibilities. The report finds that this paperwork, along with various laws and regulations, makes these positions far more difficult than those of the top officers of large corporations.

At the end the report makes a number of specific suggestions for cutting down on the paperwork and effecting other allied reforms. It estimates that savings could be made as follows: in correspondence, $75,000,000; in forms, $50,000,000; in reports, $50,000,000; in record keeping, $50,000,000; in mail handling, $30,000,000. That adds up to $255,000,000, which could be saved the taxpayers in this one field of government activity alone. The report urges that early action be taken.

Each and every session of law makers see new laws added, but on the whole are laws of prohibition against something. Naturally there is a penalty attached for breaking the law, or the law will be unenforceable.

Progress of Lions Crippled Children Camp Explained

Milton "Buff" Morris, former District Governor of Lions International and member of the executive board of the Texas Lions Camp For Crippled Children at Kerrville, explained the progress made at the camp for the members of the Canyon club last Wednesday at their regular luncheon.

The Canyon club was the top club per capita last year in donating to the Lions Camp.

The program was arranged by Emmitt Smith, chairman of the Crippled Children Committee.

Morris stated that $45,000 had been raised so far this year from a $3 assessment to each Lion in Texas. $90,000 to $100,000 will be raised by this means by the first of January, 1956. So far this year $82,000 has been collected by assessment and voluntary active and life memberships to the camp.

Morris explained that $80,000 is being spent for a new auditorium which will be completed in May and the craft building is being expanded. A non-denominational chapel has been erected at the camp by various churches in the San Antonio area. An amphitheatre is also included in one of the recent projects completed.

This camp is unique in its services to crippled children. Since the camp was opened three years ago, 475 crippled children have attended the camp; 23 of whom could swin before entering one of the two-week sessions at the camp. The swimming pool is being rebuilt in order to provide deep water at both ends of the pool. The crippled children become fine swimmers and ignore the shallow end of the pool.

Expenses and cost of new construction are paid as they occur. Every thing at the recreation spot is paid by the Lions. The camp is operated throughout the year, and it is hoped that a three month camp and nine month rehabilitation period can be in progress soon.

Last year 120 children attended each two weeks. There were six two-week sessions. This year Miss Betty Norman and Miss Cubine of West Texas State will work at the camp.

A conference is planned of all organizations in Texas working with handicapped children at the Kerrville camp this summer.

Camp director and program director is Si Ragsdale.

Election of new officers was held today. They will take office July 1.

Visitors were Truett Hull, Canyon; Garth English, Lubbock Lions Club; and W. H. Neabauer, Downtown Lions Club, Amarillo.

SOME SEEM LIKE THAT!

The other day a contractor went to inspect a row of partly finished cottages he was building. This was a hurry-up job that had to be completed by the first of the month. The prospective owners had paid down their money and were anxious to move in.

Reaching the first house, the contractor stationed his foreman on the other side of a wall, and then called out, "Can you hear me?"

"Yes, I can," rejoined the foreman.

"Can you see me?" the contractor next called out.

"No," replied the foreman.

Legislation for a three-year national survey of the alarming mental health problem in this country has been started in Congress. In the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which hears health matters, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, put the direct cost of mental hospitals, plus benefits to veterans with mental disorders, at more than $1,000,000,000 a year. The President's special program would complement an appropriation increase from $14,147,500 to $17,501,000 and calls for an additional $6,750,000 in grants to states, $1,250,000 in "demonstration projects, $1,500,000 for training workers and $1,000,000 for research.

JERICHO'S WALLS

British and American archeologists, working together, have discovered that 23 successive walls of Jericho tumbled before Joshua's priests brought the wall down again with blasts of trumpets in the 14th century B. C. The archeologists reached Jericho's earliest known town wall, built on bedrock, and buried 500 feet deep beneath layered debris of at least seven or eight thousand years of history and pre-history.

THIEF FOOLS LANDLORD

Philadelphia, Pa. — Landlord Louis Freemer listened to a plausible explanation by a man whom he had seen climbing into a newly-rented apartment through a window. "I'm the husband," the man explained. "I just came to air the place and I forgot my key." The landlord, who had met only the wife of his new tenants helped the stranger replace the screen and went his way. Later, the tenant, Mrs. Nettie Mittauer reported $681 missing—so was the "husband."

A-BOMB SCARE

Oakland, Calif. — Residents in the Piedmont Pines area of the north Oakland Hills were literally frightened to death when they saw a yellow, powdery film on houses and lawns, thinking it might be ash from the Nevada atomic blasts. Civil Defense technicians, with Geiger counters, rushed out to check and found nothing. City Health Director J. C. Geiger, however, assured the residents that the 'ash" was pollen from flowering acacia trees, and "pure poison" to asthma sufferers.

PENICILLIN DISCOVERER DIES

London. — Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin, wonder drug that has saved millions of lives, died at his home recently from a heart attack at the age of 73. The Scotsman discovered by accident in 1928 that a mold growth could kill death-dealing bacteria without damaging human corpuscles. While his discovery meant millions to others, he did not make a penny out of it but gave it freely to the world.

"TOOTHACHE" COSTLY

Baltimore, Md. J. R. O'Leary, 55, was out of jail just two days before he was back in again. He explained the reason for his drunken condition on the fact that he had a toothache. He got a bottle of whisky to deaden the pain and when he poured it into his mouth, he "couldn't help swallowing some." The judge sentenced him to 30 days in jail. — "to get some dental treatment."

WAS HIS FACE RED?

Omaha, Neb. — When the State safety patrolman stopped a Sidney (Neb.) High School teacher recently and asked why he was driving with expired license plates, the teacher, who was driving a student driver training car, commented, "I guess I was neglectful." The teacher had to meet court the next week.

THROW $360 AWAY

Shawnee, Okla. — Disgusted that they found only a few paltry pennies in a cash register they had sneaked out of a downtown shop, burglars dumped the register on the shore of nearby Lake Shawnee. Two months later, two boys found the register and, toying with it, discovered an envelope containing $360 in a secret compartment. The money was returned to the owner.

LIFE FORECAST TRUE

Rock Springs, Wyo. — Ed Phillips, deputy sheriff, used to tell his wife, Ruth, that he'd never live as long as his father did. His father died following an operation in 1918 at the age of 38 years, 2 months and 18 days. Ed Phillips was fatally wounded recently at the age if 38 years, 2 months and 12 days.

Sir Alexander Fleming, the discoverer of penicillin, died in his London home of a heart attack at the age of 73.

CONGRESSIONAL PENSIONS

The $7,500 annual pay raise which Congress voted its members recently is said to add $5,625 a year to maximum congressional pension benefits. The maximum payment goes only to those who complete 30 years or more of congressional service and would amount to $16,875 a year under the new pay scale. The top pension any member could draw under the salary scale in effect when the present Congress convened was $11,250.

B-52 JET BOMBERS

The first outfit to be equipped with the Boeing Stratofortress, will be the 93rd Bomb Wing, stationed at Castle Air Force Base, Merced, California.

BANS RED NEWSPAPERS

The Post Office Department has recently stopped the delivery of the Soviet publications Pravda and Izvestia to most United States subscribers. Acting under a legal opinion from the Justice Department, postal officials have been confiscating and destroying copies of the two Soviet publications as part of a program aimed at choking off the flow of Communist propaganda into the United States.

COLLEGES

The establishment of hundreds of publicly-supported two and four-year colleges, near enough to the high school graduate for commuting, has been proposed as the only feasible way to handle the rising college enrollment, expected to more than double in the next 15 years.

ATOMIC TEST

The largest atomic device tested in the 1955 nuclear series exploded recently with a predawn brilliance that was seen by observers in five nearby Western states. More than 100 planes — Air Force, Navy, and Marines — took part in the test, with 66 of them coordinating in a simulated attack mission on the attack area.

'FAIR TRADE'

The repeal of Federal statutes that form the basis for State "fair trade" acts, which limit price-cutting, will be recommended by a 60-man committee. The group was named by Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., to study the situation.

Visiting Pastor in Talk Tuesday at the Rotary Luncheon

Rev. S. M. Dunnam of Hereford, pastor of the Methodist Church of that town, talked Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon. He is holding a revival meeting at the Methodist Church in Canyon this week and was introduced by Rev. Lester Hill.

"The world is in a state of confusion," stated the visitor. The only solution is Christian Character; each person striving to be better Christians and better citizens.

There are many agencies to work to make people better; to justify right decisions.

Christian character is the greatest force in the world today. We are putting too much emphasis upon the H-Bomb, and not enough upon the Christian character of men.

When God has His right place in our lives; in the community; state; national; international lives the world over will see the greater power of God over all of these forces.

General MacArthur took God into consideration when the Japs surrendered to him; President Eisenhower gave God his rightful place when he was inaugurated. Paul, Luther, Wesley, changed history by giving God his rightful place.

"Be honest and true," plead the speaker. Too many persons are willing to sell God down the river, asserted the speaker.

People on the street look us over each and every day. When we reveal that God is with us, and that we are here to help and serve, we shall reveal that God is our life and light.

Cigars were passed by Col. Raymond Lumry in honor of his new daughter.

Dr. Dudley Moore urged all business men to attend the luncheon Thursday night, at which time Dr. A. Q. Sartain will speak. The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the college cafeteria.

Visitors were: Rev. Don R. Davidson of Levelland; Neil Yows of Borger; Harold Bugbee of Clarendon; S. Omar Barkley of New Mexico; Phillip Broadwell of Electra; Bill Dooley, J. J. Sanders, Van H. Alms, Dr. Roy Boger, Miss Louise Evans of Amarillo.

Buffs To End Spring Training

Coach Frank Kimbrough has sent out invitations for football fans to see the final game of spring training next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Kimbrough states that the spring training period has been the most satisfactory in several years. Line Coach Clark Jarnagin joins Kimbrough in his praise.

There will be only three seniors on the 1955 squad, Dub Cleveland, 190, at right end; Joe Walden, 173, at right half; Delmer Tuggle, 170, at full. All three will be on the starting line-up.

Open house will be held at Buffalo Court from 6:30 to 7:30. Great improvements have been made in the living quarters since they were opened for inspection, and citizens of the Panhandle are cordially invited to see the Courts, 6:30 to 7:30.

I sincerely thank the doctors and nurses of Neblett Hospital for the excellent care given me while there and to my many, many friends who sent flowers, cards, and wrote letters of encouragement. I am gratefully yours, Mrs. J. D. Key.

We wish to take this opportunity of publicly thanking each and every member of the fire department who worked so expediently to attempt to save the Fred Sorgee house and did save the other house endangered by the fire Friday. PASS THE BALONEY, FATHER

"Remember, children," father pointificated, "when I was a boy I often went to bed hungry, and seldom had a square meal."

"Well, father," rejoined little Richard, the smart boy of the family, "that shows how much better off you are since you have known us."

Father closed his big mouth, and finished his dinner without any further comment.

Leon Keyserling, economist: "I am less optimistic for 1955 . . . than I was for 1954 . . . from the standpoint of levels of unemployment."

HE SAW FATHER

The veteran character actor, Charles Coburn, liked to remember his boyhood infatuation for the theater and the youthful shifts he made to see as many plays as possible.

His father placed one prohibition on his play-going.

"Son," he warned, "you must never go to the burlesque shows."

"Why not, father?" the younger Coburn wanted to know.

"Because," said the father, "you will see things there that you shouldn't."

Someone asked Coburn, "Did you?"

The veteran actor laughed.

"Yes," he replied, "I saw father."

BACKFIRE

An English undertaker found a donkey lying dead in his back yard and went to inform the police.

"What shall I do with it?" he asked the officer in charge.

"Do with it? Bury it, of course," said the officer, laughing, "You're an undertaker, aren't you?"

"Certainly I am," replied the undertaker. "But, I thought it my business to come round and inform the relatives first."

MAKING FOOTBALL SAFE

"What can we play up at this time of year?" asked the manager of the department store drug shop.

"Well," said his assistant, "it is the football season, so how about hot-water bottles for boy friends to take along for their sweeties to sit on in those cold concrete stadiums?"

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

A Very Busy Week

My office is on the third floor of the New House Office Building. On this same floor, there are five major committee rooms — Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Interior and Insular Affairs, Agriculture, Public Works, and Banking and Currency. During the past week, I have attended meetings in all of these committee chambers except the Public Works Committee.

The matters considered varied from a discussion of drouth matters and dust storms in the Southwest to anthracite coal in Pennsylvania, to Hawaiian-Alaskan statehood, navigational aids for aircraft (which is highly secret), federal control of natural gas, a reclamation project costing in excess of one billion dollars, a discussion with the Director of the Budget concerning the administration's position on the reclamation program, a bill authorizing the granting of permanent certificates to local service airlines now operating under temporary certificates, and a discussion as to whether or not a compilation of facts, figures and conclusions by the administration amounts to a proposal, a policy, a suggestion, or merely a comglomeration of ideas intended for no particular purpose.

This last discussion was with the Director of the Bureau of the Budget concerning a circular compiled by that bureau. The director was before the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and was flanked by two of his top aides.

At the beginning of the hearing, it became obvious that party politics was going to be injected. A former Republican Chairman of the Committee pointed out that the original circular was prepared by the Truman administration. The present Democratic Chairman of the Committee immediately pointed out that the circular had been substantially revised by the present administration.

The political aspects of the situation were kicked around for about 45 minutes before we finally got down to questioning Mr. Hughes, the Director. It turned out that they had wasted the 45 minutes concerning the politics, because I asked Mr. Hughes the point-blank question of whether or not any politics were involved and he answered "No."

I then asked him if any politics were involved when the original circular was issued by the Truman administration. He declined to answer on the ground that he was not in the Bureau at that time. I was somewhat surprised, because he had not hesitated to give hearsay testimony on other matters. However, we quickly cleared the situation because his two aides had been with the Bureau for a number of years.

A hurried conference between the Director and his aides resulted in the testimony from the aides that there was no politics involved when the circular was originally issued. So, having been assured that neither the Truman administration nor the Eisenhower Administration had been interested in politics concerning this particular circular, the committee members proceeded to question the Director of the Budget.

He testified that the circular, original and revised, did not represent the thinking of the administration, that it was not a proposal of the administration, and was not a declaration of policy. He testified that it was nothing more than a compilation of ideas, but was never able to tell me just whose ideas had been compiled. The result was that the committee found out that there was not only "no politics" involved in the circular, but according to the Director of the Budget, nothing else.

As Shakespeare would put it, the Committee had spent the entire morning indulging in "Much Ado About Nothing." It found out that you can't believe a thing you hear nor half of what you see. It brought to my mind the much told, but always appropriate, story about the man in Washington wearing the big button with the symbol "BAIK."

A friend asked what the letters stood for. He replied, "Boy, am I confused." The friend advised him that you did not spell confused with a "k." The wearer of the button said, "You don't know how confused I am."

Speaking of buttons, a novelty manufacturer has passed around a bunch of large yellow buttons with the word, "R e l a x" on them. I suggest a companion button with the following: "Don't you wish you could?"

Texas Still the Biggest

Some of the proponents for Alaskan statehood claim that Texans are against it because it is bigger than Texas. This theory was fully discounted in a discussion the other day about the dust storms that seem to be plaguing our state. The report came in that the dust was 30,000 feet high above Texas. One wit was heard to remark that Texas was not only the biggest state sideways, but also up and down.

A SPITE OF DANGER

An Englishman was invited by a New Yorker to accompany him on a hunting trip to Long Island.

"Large or small game?" queried the Britisher, who had hunted in every quarter of the globe.

"You don't expect to find lions and tigers on Long Islands, do you?"

"Hardly, but I like a spice of danger in my hunting."

"If that's the case," answered the New Yorker, "I'm your man all right. The last time I went out I shot my brother in the leg."

SAVE THE PIECES

The aviator had taken a timid friend up for the first time. He was executing a nose dive when the friend tugged frantically at his sleeve and shouted:

"Let's get out of here; the earth is swelling up like a balloon and is liable to burst any minute."

Dr. Frederick J. Stare, chairman, Department of Nutrition, Harvard University: "Contrary to popular belief, this is not the healthiest country in the world — particularly for men in their prime."

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT

One of the duties of a college administrative officer is to write letters of recommendation. Once one of these administrators was at a loss to know what to write concerning a doubtful applicant. A retired faculty member suggested that he write as follows:

"Dear Sir: When you come to know the applicant as we know him, you will come to appreciate him as we appreciate him."

G. S. Trimble, aircraft official: "Essentially all commercial transportation in 1985 will be via air in vehicles operating on principles not yet conceived."

Edward T. McCormick, president, American Stock exchange, advising investors: "A sound rule is investigate before you invest."

"I remove the clothes from the dryer before they are completely dried out, and hang them on a hanger. They need no ironing, as all the wrinkles fall right out."

Any time you can save ironing time is a good time, especially when you have five children, and want to spend as much time with them as you can. Try the convenience of electric clothes drying and reap the dividend Mrs. Shropshire enjoys — more time with her family.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower seems to be headed for his most bitter dispute with Congress when the Senate takes up the Reciprocal Trade bill. Even some Republicans and Democrats who usually support the President are turning against him on this issue.

Military leaders at the Pentagon can't get very excited about the appointment of Harold Stassen as Special Assistant to the President on disarmament problems. Military men note that disarmament proposals are about as old as history and never have been successful.

Carl W. McCardle, Assistant Secretary of State, is getting most of the blame from Democrats for the alleged "leak" to one newspaper that resulted in the release of the Yalta documents.

John Foster Dulles and Britain's Sir Anthony Eden are supposed to have discussed the release of the Yalta papers when they met at Bangkok several weeks ago. Actually, the conversation never took place. Mr. Dulles was primed for a discussion of the subject, but Sir Anthony did not mention it.

Senator Walter F. George (Dem.) of Georgia, caught the State Department by surprise when he proposed a Big Four conference. The Administration still doubts that much can come of a meeting with the Russians, but the Department wants no argument with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Quiet diplomatic pressure from Britain and the U. S. is credited with having caused the Finnish tanker "Aruba" to turn back to Rumania with its cargo of jet fuel, once destined for Red China.

U. S. military officials in Tokyo have suggested to Washington that the Korean cease-fire agreement be formally terminated by the United Nations because of Communist violations. A military build-up in South Korea, to match the one of North Korea, then could be undertaken.

Air Force strategists for the U. S. would not be surprised if Soviet Russia delivers some V-2 rockets to Chinese Communists for use against Formosa. As a target, Formosa may offer the Russians a chance to test German-designed rocket weapons.

Joao Cafe Filho, President of Brazil, is losing support of the Brazilian Army. Reports are current that the Army may oust the President before scheduled elections next autumn. Cafe's failure to curb runaway inflation has irked Brazilian business interests, too.

Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, is not getting very far with his program to sell farm surpluses abroad for foreign currencies. The plan is running into difficulty at home with other Government agencies, and it is being opposed abroad by countries that fear surplus sales would cut down other forms of aid.

Republican Congressmen from farm States are skeptical of the House Agriculture Committee's attempt to gain labor backing for high and rigid farm-price supports. Republicans doubt that farmers have anything to gain from an attempt to ally themselves with organized labor.

NEWS LETTER
FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Wildlife

The age-old East Texas debate of open or closed season on squirrels seems to have spread east of the Mississippi and right smack into the White House. It seems that the turf on the President's putting green was being disrupted by some type of vandal.

A hurried investigation (without the benefit of a Congressional investigating committee) resulted in the finger of scorn being pointed at the squirrels. Although immediate defenses were set up, some delay was occasioned in dealing with the culprits.

It could not be determined whether such vandalism should carry the death penalty or banishment to the rural wooded areas. Word got around that the latter was decided upon, which took some of the wind out of the sails of those who were preparing to raise a great hue and cry about squirrel murderers.

However, this setback was only temporary because it was conceded that banishment of a city squirrel to a rural area without proper identification would result in the country squirrels not being able to recognize the inability of the city squirrel to cope with the ways of nature, he having been fed with a silver spoon so many years; with the end result that the country squirrel would get all of the food and the city squirrel would soon starve to death.

This divided the camp between the anti-squirrelies and the pro-squirrelies. The pro-squirrelies claim that this was inhuman and was indirect squirrel murder. The tempo of the battle increases. The possibility of settlement presently appears to be just about as remote as the open and closed season debate that started in East Texas shortly after the Lone Star Flag was first lofted above our great domain.

Squirrel troubles are not the only animal troubles plaguing our President. It seems that he has pigeon trouble on his Pennsylvania farm. It is reported that he got out his shot gun and went to work on them. This made me feel a little bit better about what I had been doing where I live here in Washington.

For some unknown reason the pigeons seem to love the Rogers family. It might be the wide eaves on our house. In any event, they proceeded to wake us about 5 a.m. until I got a B-B gun and went to work on them. Actually, I was ashamed to be out shooting at them and always waited until dusk or early in the morning when I might not be identified in the shadows.

However, since the President has set the pattern, I have come out in the open. The pigeons don't seem to be much more disturbed than they were in the first place.

When this operation first began, the pigeons would fly off as soon as I came out with the B-B gun. They soon learned that I had to cock the gun, so from then on, they waited for that performance. I was able to slip up on them once or twice, and they were the victims of a sample of my shooting.

The result of that was that now they don't fly when I come out of the house with a gun, they don't fly when I cock the gun, and they don't fly when I shoot at them. I may have to call in the President for some advice on the subject or borrow his shot gun.

The Gas Hearings

The House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee has finally commenced the hearings on several gas bills pending before Congress. From the standpoint of basic democratic government, this will be one of the most important issues, if not the most important issue, in several decades. Many people think it involves only the question of the use of gas.

This is not true. The issue is whether or not this country will continue to operate under the dual sovereign theory of a federal government and a state government or whether these two will be fused into one all-powerful federal centralized bureaucracy. Few people realize the impact that the recent Supreme Court decision can have on the democratic form of government if it is not corrected by this Congress.

The expansion of the jurisdiction of the Federal Government can be effected quicker, easier and more completely through the medium of interstate commerce than any other way. The invasion of and encroachment upon states' rights through the commerce clause of the Federal Constitution is one of the greatest dangers faced by the individuals of this generation. It must be continually guarded against.

Red Cross House To House Drive

Truett Hull, head of the local Red Cross drive, said yesterday that house-to-house solicitation for funds would begin today and would probably last about two days. He added that the goal this year is $2,800 for Randall county and that about $1,700 of this money remains at home. The remainder goes to the National Red Cross headquarters for national distribution.

Kenneth Goodman, president of the local Red Cross chapter, said that last year's drive was far short of the goal. The result of this was a shortage of funds which prevented more local help. The money that stays at home is used for local people as well as transients who become stranded here. Often this money is used to help people in distress to get to their destination when they get stranded here in passing.

Hull said this year's drive would probably be extended a few days into April before it was completed. He said the business solicitation was almost finished. A total of $215 has been collected to date. Monday the college solicitation will begin and should end within two days.

Goodman and Hull both stated that they were not finding as much local opposition to the drive this year as in the past. They believe this is because many people realize that the Red Cross is doing a good work both locally and nationally, and that public support is needed to keep this organization going. This year the slogan is "You Are There." You can be represented at disasters all over the nation by contributing to the Red Cross. So answer the call — join the Red Cross!

Golfers Responsible When Hit by Ball In Spite of Warning

"Fore!" yelled Glen Glibb as he sized up the fairway in front of him. "Better wait," cautioned another member of his foursome. "Those people aren't out of range yet."

"Well, they're too slow," growled Glen. "I'll just crack one over their heads—that'll speed 'em up a little."

There was a resounding crack as Glen drove, and the golf ball shot out low and hard along the right side of the fairway. As the players watched, admiring the fine shot, the ball began to curve to the left, hooking toward the two men and two women in the fairway. "Fore," Glen yelled frantically, and one of the women moved desperately to one side, ducking her head. The ball struck her on the arm.

Warning Necessary

In all of his conduct which might result in harm to another player, or to a caddy, the golfer must exercise reasonable and ordinary care, according to the circumstances. It is well known that driven balls do not always travel in the straight course intended, but the player must reasonably foresee the likelihood of injury to others from his driven ball, and use the care necessary to prevent such injury.

One duty of a golfer is to give timely warning of an intended drive if the other player is not aware of such intention, but in some cases a mere warning is not enough. The golfer is not necessarily an insurer of the safety of others with reference to the balls he drives, nor is he guilty of negligence merely because the ball deflects from its intended course, but he must have in mind the possibilities of dangers to others.

Ordinary Care Needed

In the case above, Glen was at fault. The players were obviously in a danger zone, and the mere shouted warning was not sufficient to protect them, especially since their backs were to Glen, and they were proceeding ahead of him, in a place where, under the rules of the game, they had a right to be.

On the golf course, remember, use just ordinary reasonable care to see that other players are protected. Be sure they know when you are going to drive, if they are in a danger zone, and don't deliberately drive into the people ahead of you.

Just Between You, Me . . .
. . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

There's a story going around about Dan Sanders winning that wrist watch recently. It seems that Dan never won anything before in his life even though he was big-hearted enough to buy many chances on various items. Now it goes without saying that he was due a little luck and the watch is nice enough to almost even the luckless score of the past. In case you haven't found a moral in this verbal foliage it's this, "If you have any chances to sell on anything, the right man to see is Dan Sanders."

If you haven't been attending the big Jamborees each Saturday at the Olympic Theater you've been missing some good local talent shows. For the past two Saturdays, W. J. Wooten and Charles Donnell have brought these shows to Canyon. They will also have them going for several weeks into the future so you'll have a chance to see one yet. M. C.'ing the show is Bozo Darnell, one of the well known radio entertainers of this area.

Mrs. Clay Cooper is happy these days over the interest being shown in the local library drive. She is chairman of the drive and has been working very hard to promote it. Several organizations are now becoming interested in the drive and this means a greater success for the library. If you ask the age-old question, "What's in it for me?" the answer is simply, a bigger, nicer library with a larger selection of books for you and your children to read or do research work with. And if you don't use the library remember this, it's like insurance, a lot nicer to have and not need than to need and not have.

One of the convenient things about living in Canyon is getting your annual license plates for your car. In many of the bigger towns you have to stand in line for a long time before purchasing the new tags. One of the reasons they don't have a line over there is because Bill Money and his deputies, George Stevens, Burch Campbell, Burney Slack, and the girls over there manage to stay a little ahead of their work most of the time. It sure is nice to go into a public building and not have to stand in line.

The calendar may say it's spring time but old man winter certainly made a strong curtain call last week. His frigid appearance made a lot of people take to their winter duds again. Some wondered if spring would ever get here while others grinned and went about their business. As George Cristy put it Saturday morning, "I guess we'll just go out of winter and into summer without any spring." Oh, well, there isn't too much to complain about, after all we did have a beautiful autumn in 1954 and we usually go right out of summer and into winter.

Now that the income tax has been put off another month it makes it come just at the right time to tell the little woman that her Easter bonnet will have to go to Uncle Sam this year. Such an excuse will probably not help the hard working head of the house in holding down the clothing expense but it will give him material for argument.

Those people who have a tendency to look at our town in a criticizing manner should note the quality of the new houses being built. Many places are constructing cheap houses quickly to solve their housing problems but the houses being built here are well constructed and definitely a credit to the town.

It's no joke that things are still very dry around these parts. To start off the facetious department we have an old saying modernized. They used to say, "If you don't like our weather here, just stay ten minutes, it'll change." Now it is, "If you don't like the land here, wait a couple of days, it'll change."

Two doctors met on the street and one of them said, "You're not looking so well this morning, how am I?"

Girl Scouts and Brownies Open Library Tag Day

"Library Tag Day" is to be opened here Saturday morning with a drive for books and funds promoted by the Brownies and Girl Scouts. The group will gather at the Scout House at 1605 Third Avenue, at 9:30 Saturday morning.

During the planning of the last minute details of the drive the girls will enjoy refreshments of punch and cookies. Approximately 75 persons are expected to be present at the drive opening. The girls' mothers will be present to help get the drive started as will such local dignitaries as Mayor Hosea Foster, Truett Hull, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Roland Black, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

All of the workers will be in uniform so the public will not have any trouble recognizing them. The planners of this drive hope and are also confident that the public will receive the girls pleasantly. Both organizations are enthusiastic about working in the drive. They are eager for the opportunity of helping to build up the stock of the library.

The girls will be carrying pennants for the contributors. These pennants or tags, will have a message o nthem stating that the contributor has supported the library or is a friend of the library. The exact wording has not been decided upon.

The drive will last one day, Saturday, April 2. The Brownies and the Girl Scouts will be doing everything they can to get a larger selection of books for the Randall County Library.

POSTAGE RISE

Another boost in postage rates has been called for if Congress approves the recommended increases in the salaries of Post Office employees. Postmaster General Summerfield has postponed rate hikes estimated to bring in around $330,000,000 of new revenue each year. Of this a proposed 1-cent increase in the charge for ordinary letters would account for $260,000,000.

U. S. JOB ROLLS

January saw a decrease of 14,490 civilian employees from the Federal executive agencies, which, on January 31st, totaled 2,353,572. The decrease was accounted for largely by the dropping of temporary employees of the Census Bureau.

The Secretaries of Defense, Labor and the Treasury joined in urging the Senate to vote a straight, three-year extension.

Three national health organizations have appealed for a $5,000,000 Federal appropriation to help the states fight an "alarming" increase in venereal disease rates.

IRONCLAD WILLS

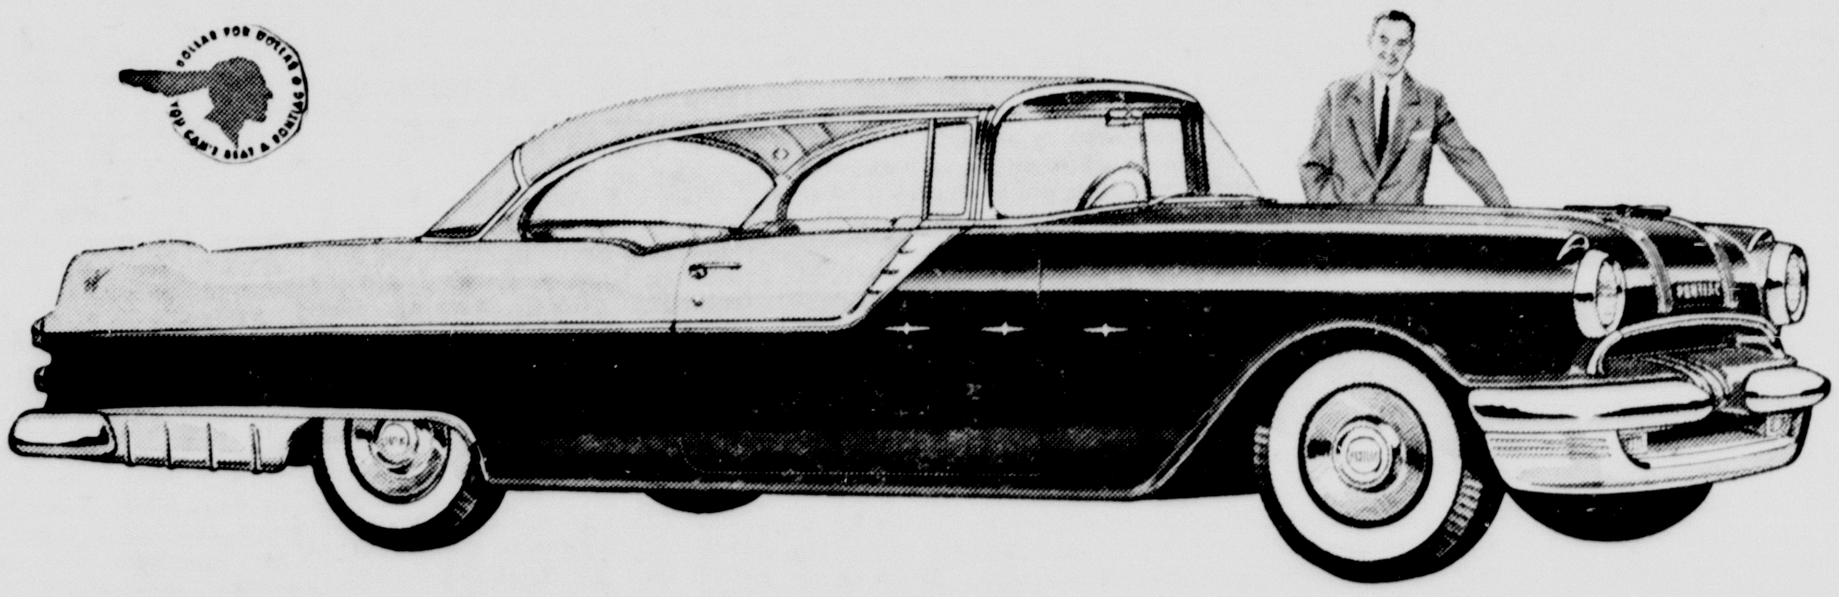
DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR YOU CAN'T BEAT A PONTIAC



If you want the real facts on new-car values see your PONTIAC dealer!

When you compare automobile values, one plain and easily proved truth becomes evident —Pontiac gives you more for your money than any other car in America!

Keeping in mind that Pontiac is priced within the reach of any new-car buyer, consider these three very important facts:

Pontiac is a big car! Pontiac's 122" or 124" wheelbase is 6½ to 8½ inches longer than any of the "low-priced three". It's the biggest car at its price.

Pontiac is more powerful! Model for model, its big Strato-Streak V-8 delivers more power per dollar than any car in its field!

Pontiac is the most distinctively beautiful car at any price! No other car can match the individuality of Pontiac Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Tone colors.

Right there are three big reasons why Pontiac sales are at an all-time high. Come in and get all the facts—for final proof.

You can buy a big, 200-H.P. Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars and much less than stripped economy models of higher-priced makes!

Eagle's Tale Places Third In PHSPA

Students Attend Press Convention

At the Panhandle High School Press Association convention, last Saturday, March 26, CHS annual and journalism departments received third place awards in the yearly PHSPA contest.

The awards were presented by David Miller, former PHSPA president, in the afternoon luncheon of the convention.

Each year, throughout the Panhandle, annual and journalism departments select the year's best work and send it to the PHSPA headquarters where it is forwarded to an out-of-state newspaper to be judged.

The assembly was welcomed by Dr. James P. Cornette, WTSC president, fillowed by numerous campaigns for the election of the 1955-56 officers.

At 10:45 journalists were addressed by Mr. Harold Hudson, editor of the Ochiltree County Herald, Perryton, speaking about the vast opportunities in the journalistic world.

Discussions led by Mrs. Mary Kate Tripp, regional editor of the Amarillo Daily News; Miss Beverly Beck, art director for KGNC-TV; Mr. John Masterman, staff writer, Amarillo News and Globe-Times, spiced the morning classes as this experienced crew went to bat on some of the problems facing high school journalists.

The convention was adjourned after a steak dinner and the presentation of trophies in the college cafeteria.

In The Canyon News office investigating an edition-in-the-making is The Eagle's Tale staff. From left to right the group is Jim Flynn, sports editor; Ray Green, news editor; Dovie Keene, editor; David Miller, copyreader; Alby Ann Kuehler, feature editor; Helene Meyer, exchange editor; and Maxine Greene, co-editor. David and Alby discuss the layout while the other staff members proofread the galley sheets.

Journalism Class Edits Newspaper

"Dum de dum dum." I am a reporter. My job is to get the inside story on the Canyon High School journalism department, the story that many of the students never think about. The time is 12:35 p. m. Monday.

I enter the journalism department, the room just neighboring the principal's office. Miss Marilyn A. Payne, Eagle's Tale staff sponsor, is sitting behind her desk explaining the basic elements to be considered in writing a good story. She relates that every story must contain the five "W,'s," that is, does the story tell who, what, where, when, and why.

Next the seven members of the staff ponder over story possibilities. Dovie Keene, staff editor, engages in assigning subjects to each staff member after story topics are selected.

Tuesday to Thursday, 12:35 p.m.: Entering the journalism room, I witness the staff working diligently on the stories that they have been assigned. Before writing the story, they have consulted reputable sources to gain the necessary information.

Upon acquiring the required information, the following task is to begin the actual composition. Staff members write and rewrite stories several times before achieving the desired results; next they type the stories neatly, according to a special journalistic form.

Before completing the story, staff members annex a suitable headline, and copyread the work accurately to prevent errors. Finally the journalism student asks himself, "Have I done my best?" before releasing the story for publication.

Friday, 12:35 p. m.: For three days I have been watching as the staff prepares the stories for publication, but upon entering the room today, I catch a glimpse of Jim Flynn, sports editor, chasing down the hall to finish typing his story; Maxine Greene, co-editor, contemplating a headline; David Miller, copy-reader, checking the stories; Helene Meyer, exchange editor, rewriting a lead; Ray Green, news editor, doing some last-minute revising; Dovie Keene, editor, figuring on a dummy plan; and Ann Kuehler, feature editor, busily typing the menus. Not an idle hand is in sight.

For a split second I could not realize the cause for the sudden action, then it came to me. Today, Friday, is the press deadline. The edition has to be completed and taken to The Canyon News office for publication.

Friday, 4:30 p. m.: I have completed my assignment. Now I realize how much service the staff members actually do render to the school. The journalism department of CHS has completed another issue filled with an abundance of student interest; now the staff can begin planning for the next edition. And so goes 34 weeks of the school term in the journalism department.

Three Bands Give Concert Tuesday

A combined concert of the three public school bands was presented in the high school auditorium Tuesday, March 29. The bands were directed by Mr. Herman Demus and Mr. Gerald Smith.

The beginners band was cimposed of 45 fifth and sixth grade students who have started playing only this year. Mr. Demus directed this band. The junior high band is made up of 40 seventh and eighth grade students. Mr. Smith directed this band.

The high school band, directed by Mr. Demus, has 65 members. The featured number of the concert was selections from the latest band composition by Dr. Houston Bright, "Sketches from the West." This number was written with the average high school band in mind. "Nightrider's Lament" and "Bunkhouse Ballad" were the "sketches" played.

Two contest overtures, "American Folk Rhapsody" by Grundman and "Overture in Classical Style" by Carter composed the heavier part of the program. "Lilt of the Latin," a samba by Bennett and the "Desert Song" by Romberg were the lighter numbers. Three marches, "The Liberty Bell" by Sousa, "The Little Giant" by Moon, and "Invercargill" by Lithgow completed the program.

WARREN'S

Hold Your Tongue

Why do people gossip? Maybe it is because they find themselves idle at the moment receiving no attention from anybody and discover that talking about somebody else, regardless if it is the truth, helps to pass the time away.

Actually this is not a good habit to form, for it is not only a bad reflection on the gossiper, but on the school. Every time we pass on a word about someone to another person, we are gossiping. At the time it appears to be perfectly innocent; however, it may be very harmful to the other party involved if the tale becomes longer and little falsehoods are added each time.

The next time temptation drives our tongues to wag a tale about someone, stop and think for a moment. Would I like for this to be said about me? Would people like me any better if this statement should get out of hand? This practice will save a lot of people a bad name. Hold that tongue and think next time!

Girls Awarded State Degrees

State FHA degrees were awarded to all Canyon girls applying according to Mrs. Clara B. Long, homemaking instructor and FHA sponsor. Members receiving state awards are Janis Wright, Diane Prichard, Nancy Kay Tomlinson, Alby Ann Kuehler, and Virginia Leake.

The play, a project not only for the cast but for the whole senior class, was directed by Mrs. Dan Sanders and Mr. Waylon Carroll with Mrs. Lawrence Brotherton as consultant. Appreciation gifts to the director and consultant were presented Friday night by Jack McCormick.

A total of seven committees composed the production staff. Serving as general chairmen were Don Ray and Jack McCormick. Stage managers, Al Myers and Billy Partridge, were assisted by Leroy Burrow, Kenneth Bonds, Billy McBroom, Elmer Clements, Bruce Ransom, C. G. Pond, Norris Samuelson, Mary Sue Hicks, Jamie Airhart, Larry Hungate, and Larry Stroup.

Working on the program committee were Larry Hungate, chairman, Bettie Glanton, Nancy Adcock, Ruth Ann Bolton, Ann Moore, Agnes Measamer, Foster Parker, Rita Jo Neal, Don Ray, and Jack McCormick.

Two committees served to furnish the publicity and sell tickets. Editing publicity were Don Ray, chairman, Jack McCormick, Ray Green, Foster Parker, C. G. Pond, June Davis, Alice Simms, and Agnes Measamer. On the ticket committee were Nancy Adcock, chairman, Ruth Ann Bolton, Ann Moore, Bettie Glanton, Martha Quillen, Agnes Measamer, Juanelle Burrus, R. A. Burgess, Alby Kuehler, Carolyn Measamer, Jimmy Kuhlman, Jamie Airhart, Rita Neal, Betty Burrus.

Ray Green and Jack McCormick took care of the sound effects while Carolyn Brasher, Laura Morris, Mary Sue Hicks, and Juanelle Burrus helped with the make-up.

Ushers were Bettie Glanton, Ruth Ann Bolton, Ann Moore, Nancy Adcock, Agnes Measamer, R. A. Burgess, Jamie Airhart, Jack McCormick, Betty Burrus, Alby Kuehler, Carolyn Measamer, Carolyn Brasher, Rita Neal, Mary Dodson, Marie Fort, Billy McBroom, Kenneth Bonds, and Leroy Burrow.

Spring Athletics Enter Tourneys

Track, tennis, golf, and volleyball squads are on the march to stretch winter-cramped muscles in the spring-season athletics.

Track records reveal a fifth place at Snyder and a first position at the Hereford tourney. Practice sessions mark the opening of tennis with the first scheduled bout so far as April 15, the district meet.

Members of the golf squad drew a streak of bad luck, placing last in a tourney against Hereford and Littlefield.

Girls' volleyball, playing towns of Plainview-Pampa size, hold a 11-6 scoresheet favoring the opposition.

More sports to follow in future issues.

Volleyball Girls Lose

Victorious recently over the Canyon volleyball teams were Pampa and Happy.

The Happy Cowgirls met the Canyon A squad on March 22 and galloped away with a victory in the third match. The score readings for the three matches were 15-10, Canyon's favor, 15-13, Happy, and 15-2, Happy. The Canyon B girls were also defeated in a third match.

March 21st was the date for the Pampa meet.

On the immediate schedule are Phillips here March 29 at 5 p. m. and the Plainview tournament on April 1 and 2.

Harry S. Truman, former President: "The United States must have a strong defense force of the universal military type to back any peace."

Student of the Week

David Miller and Frank Kimbrough, members of the senior play cast, have been chosen students of the week.

David Miller portraying Mr. Culter and Frank Kimbrough portraying Mr. Ahern in the play, "Strictly Formal" were deadly rivals in the peony flower shows. Displaying their acting abilities, David and Frank helped make the play a success.

David has taken part in NHS, Quill and Scroll, CCYC, FTA, Science Club, and chorus. Previously David has been a SFC representative, president of CCYC, and received NSPA star award. This year he holds the position of band treasurer, and president of the Spanish Club and PHSPA.

After receiving his diploma this spring, David plans to enter WTSC and study to be a doctor.

Frank has taken active parts in the Spanish Club, Science Club, and golf. He plans to enter West Texas State College and study in the field of science.

Review Featured At FTA Meeting

"Good Morning Miss Dove" by Frances Patton was reviewed by Miss Elva Fronabarger at the FTA meeting Monday, March 21, in the cafeteria. "Good Morning Miss Dove" is about a teacher who isn't very well respected until she has to go to the hospital. While she is in the hospital, her students realize how important she is and learn to appreciate her very much.

The FTA Club has been very active this year. They have just voted to give $10 to the beautification fund for the improvement of the campus.

Twelve senior members of the FTA were presented with pins by the Classroom Teachers Association. For the past few years this has been an annual practice.

At the next business meeting, officers will be elected for the coming school year.

Revised editions of the Holy Bible, leather binding, $10; cloth binding, $6; at Warwicks. tf

In these days of atomic toys, space helmets and jet propelled airplane models, some of us find it hard to speak the language of 12-year-olds.

And if occasionally we try to follow Buz Sawyer through a comic strip, or watch Flash Gordon take off in a rocket on TV, we feel as Rip Van Winkle must have felt when he returned from 20 years' sleep.

All of which is by way of saying that we're glad to see spring come round again. Because no matter how technical the make-believe world of today's youth becomes, when the trees bud out, and the air has overtones of softness and warmth, boys are once more little boys. Riding bicycles, setting up tents, climbing trees — these pastimes can be picked up right where they were left off by 12-year-olds a year ago or a generation back.

Two youngsters in our block started their Neighborhood Gazette again the other day and we could have shouted for joy. Solemnly they announced policies and plans. The rate will be raised from two cents to three:

"After thinking all afternoon about it," they proclaimed editorially, "we came to the conclusion of firing our helpers, now there is only two of us left. We now think the paper will be much better."

So come what may in the realm of nuclear fission, as sure as there is spring, there'll be young incubator citizens with high ideals and questionable grammar to speak the language of everyday folks like you and me.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

"Why Do Folks Break the Law"

"Why is it that citizens who obey other laws often show great contempt for traffic laws?"

This question was asked by R. B. Roaper, president, Texas Safety Association, as he commented on the importance of the Texas Safety Association and the Texas Department of Public Safety's know and obey traffic laws program. This program is being conducted in Texas during March in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

Mr. Roaper said, "People who would be critical of sharp practices in business, who are strictly honest in their personal relationships and who are highly respected in the community, will frequently brag about 'getting away' with some infraction of traffic laws."

"This attitude is difficult to understand the seriousness of our traffic problem," he said. "National Safety Council records show there were 38,300 people killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1953. It is significant that Council records also show 82 per cent of the fatal traffic accidents involved violations of traffic laws by one or more drivers. The conclusion is obvious — violations of traffic laws lead to traffic accidents."

Mr. Roaper declared that, in the face of these facts, no person can consider himself a responsible citizen if he doesn't have the same respect for traffic laws as he has for laws prohibiting such crimes as robbery and murder.

"The fatal traffic accident victim loses his life as surely as a murder victim loses his," Mr. Roaper said, "and the deliberate traffic violator who causes the accident is responsible for this death."

He urged all drivers to accept their responsibility for their own safety and the safety of others and to make it a point to observe traffic laws at all times.

Sanitation Is One Of Most Essential Public Problems

AUSTIN: "Environmental sanitation is the public health term for clean, safe housekeeping whether it applies to a private home and its surroundings or to towns and cities. Among other things, it insures safe drinking water, proper garbage and sewage disposal, the safe service of wholesome food including milk, rat and insect control, and general cleanliness of the premises.

However, for environmental sanitation to be effective, it is essential that not only public health officials but the citizens living in their respective homes or operating establishments serving the public cooperate wholeheartedly," declared Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer.

"Consider, for example, the seasonal housefly hazard. It has been determined that 120 eggs are laid by a single female at one time and that a generation is produced every ten days at summer temperature. Thus, the possibility of reproduction during the warm months of a single fly runs into many millions. While the housefly does not bite, it is dangerous because it breeds and feeds upon both filth and food.

"Again, rats are the source of several diseases of man including plague, typhus fever, infectious jaundice, and trichinosis, to mention some of the more important ones. Homes can be made comparatively ratproof by removing rubbish and garbage accumulations, and by closing avenues of access. Approved poisons and traps should be employed when a real problem presents itself.

"Removal of containers of stagnant water such as tin cans and barrels will do much to eliminate the mosquito for householders. The householder needs to devote more seasonal attention to mosquito eradication than he is today if this is to be properly controlled.

"In general, good and thorough housekeeping, inside and out, is the personal and civic duty of every home dweller. It not only adds to the pleasure of living and removes disease hazards, but incraeses the appearance of one's surroundings."

PACIFIC FLEET

In a statement which left the Chinese Reds guessing, Admiral Felix B. Stump, Commander of the U. S. Pacific Fleet, declared, "If the United States is willing, we can defend anything against the Communist." The Admiral did not specifically mention the Communist-menaced Matsu Islands, however, but it was understood that his "anything" included them, if orders were given to protect them.

PERSONAL INCOME

The Government recently reported that personal income was running at an annual rate of $290,700,000,000 in January, which was $8,000,000 higher than in the corresponding month of 1953, when business activity set records.

President Eisenhower wants a larger number of nationwide civil defense tests held on a more realistic basis. Civil Defense Administrator Peterson recently asserted.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN: Senator Jimmy Phillips batted .666 and then struck out.

He broke the national filibuster record; got himself a lot of publicity; but failed by a 14-11 Senate vote to achieve his announced goal. That was to get the John Sealy Hospital at Galveston one million dollars more per year than set out in a House-passed, general-appropriations measure.

The Angleton Senator not only broke the state talkathon record but went on to take national honors by holding the floor for a total of 23 hours and 35 minutes of continuous debate.

As finally passed by the Senate, the administration backed $1.5 billion measure became the largest general appropriations bill in Texas history to clear both houses. After a few conference committee agreements the bill will be ready for the Governor.

TAX SWITCH—It is apparent that administration forces have climbed aboard the "omnibus" tax bill — and abandoned Gov. Allan Shivers' two single-shot tax hehicles.

This opens the door wide for increasing present taxes and perhaps adding new ones.

Governor Shivers originally asked only a 2-cent hike in the gasoline sales tax and a 1-cent increase in the cigarette tax.

There is no question as to where the money will come from — the taxpayers' pockets. The problem is how to extract it.

A witness before the Senate investigating committee testified that former land commissioner Bascom Giles and Lawrence Jackson, secretary of the veterans land board, raised no objection to a block land operator buying up veterans' rights for the purchase of land by others.

Herbert Box of Georgetown, the witness, told the committee he was assured by Giles and Jackson that it "didn't make any difference to the state who made the payments."

Three Georgetown veterans testified that Box had paid them from $35 to $70 for signing applications with the understanding that they were not buying land, but authorizing others to buy.

OTHER LAND ACTIVITY—Other developments in the broadening land investigation included:

1. Cecil Burney, special assistant attorney general, said that several branches of the federal government are interested.

2. Giles, in district court here, refused to answer questions about two deals in which the state is suing him and others to recover $171,427. Giles' attorneys said he would not talk because co-defendants had not been officially notified that oral depositions were to be taken.

3. Back to work on veteran land deals went a Travis County grand jury. A previous grand jury had been dissolved because of a legal question as to whether it was properly called.

4. Senator Phillips asked the investigating committee to subpoena all bank records of Alvis Vandygriff, Austin lawyer who was the first executive secretary of the veterans land board. Vandygriff has testified before the House investigating committee that he was to receive $5,000 legal fees in a Webb County deal.

5. Cuero Congressman John J. Bell told investigators that he received more than $20,000 in legal fees during 1952-54 from persons mentioned in land deals. Bell made the statement voluntarily, after some of his fees had been mentioned in land testimony.

INSURANCE RULES—Insurance reform bills made progress.

Finally passed by the Senate and sent to the House was one measure requiring written examinations for the licensing of legal reserve life insurance agents.

Another bill passed first reading, but did not get enough votes for immediate final passage.

This second bill, by Senator Searcy Bracewell of Houston, would require legal reserve life companies to have $250,000 capital and $125,000 surplus.

At present, the requirement is only $25,000 to $100,000, depending on whether a limited or full capital stock company is concerned.

GAS EVERYWHERE—Representatives from 500 Panhandle area farm families swarmed the legislature to support two bills that will make natural gas available to them.

At present, the area produces two million feet of gas a day, but the farmers can't buy the gas to run irrigation pumps for drouth-hit wheatland.

One measure pushed by the group would require gas, companies having wells on irrigated farm land, to sell enough gas to run pumps.

Another would give royalty owners the right to either sell their share of the gas or to use it for irrigation pumps.

WATER PROGRAM—Final Senate approval has been given a proposed constitutional amendment calling for a $100 million state aid program for local water conservation. If the House approves it, it will go to the people September 20. A state property tax of three cents per $100 value would finance the bill.

TIDELAND LEASES—First major leasing of tidelands since late 1953 will take place May 3 when the School Land Board puts 186,000 acres on the block. The Board will also offer for leasing 160,000 acres of other land.

SHIVERS INVITED—Gov. Allan Shivers will attend a May 4-5 Washington conference of Democratic governors. Sponsoring the session is the Democratic National Committee. Shivers said the invitation came from National Committee Chairman Paul M. Butler.

GAS CONSERVATION—A conservation bill to regulate natural gas prices at the wellhead is moving forward. House members voted 89 to 52 to have the bill printed after its committee was unable to agree.

CITY ANNEXATIONS—Two measures governing city annexations have been initiated in the legislature.

One, giving a city first rights to incorporate areas within five miles during a 2-year period, has been sent to the Senate.

Rep. Joe Pool's bill to let the State Board of Water Engineers supervise city annexations and incorporation is in a House committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Howard have moved into their new home at 2208 10th Ave. It is a French gray frame house trimmed with white having one large room for the living room, dining room and kitchen, a desk and shelves dividing the kitchen from the dining room, two bedrooms and bath. Mrs. Howard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Craig and teaches the second grade at the public schools. Mr. Howard raises pigs and cattle on their farm north of Canyon and also farms out by Ralph Switch.

When S. B. Orton heard about volcano Kilauea of Kahala mountains on the island of Hawaii erupting, he secured passage on a plane and flew over to Hawaii to see the volcano. He arrived too late to take a trip over the volcano, as a plane had nearly fallen in it a few days earlier and the government had stopped people from flying over.

This volcano Kilauea is about 100 miles from Honolulu and this eruption had made an opening over seven miles long running across the road so that a small village below the volcano had to be evacuated by way of the sea.

It took Mr. Orton only 17 hours to fly from Amarillo to Hawaii, a distance of about 3500 miles. He stayed in Hawaii one week taking pictures and seeing what he could of Kilauea, which did not erupt while he was there, but began erupting again after he left throwing out vast masses of lava, and huge volume of smoke.

He brought back some wonderful pictures of the eruption at its height taken by the National Park Association, but was unable to get close enough to take any pictures himself.

He flew to three of the islands and toured them, flying over two more. He traveled out to the fields of sugar cane and the sugar mills and through the fields of pineapple. He said each member of the touring parties is allowed to pick one pineapple.

Mr. Orton said he saw more different flowers here than he had ever seen and he has traveled to most of the beautiful flower gardens of the U. S. since he is an ardent flower admirer.

Not only has Mr. Orton visited most of the famous gardens, but one fall he drove to Pennsylvania to see the autumn leaves. He said he stood on a hill and counted 70 hills ablaze with oak and maple trees and that was the most beautiful sight he had ever seen.

He visited the famous Foster Orchid Gardens in Hawaii which is said to have the greatest orchid displays anywhere and also is the largest orchid packing and shipping business in the world.

Mr. Orton said he believed the people of Hawaii are the friendliest and happiest people he has ever seen, and they all speak the English language.

The staple products of the Hawaiian Islands are sugar and pineapples with lesser crops of coffee, rice, avocados, bananas and potatoes. The potato crop is fast becoming one of the largest crops. Cattle raising is one of the leading industries, in fact one of the largest stock ranches in the world is located on the island of Hawaii—the Parker Ranch.

Mr. Orton said a day scarcely passes in Hawaii without sunshine. That the temperature runs from 72 to 78, with the average 75. The U. S. Army rates Hawaii as the healthiest area where American soldiers are stationed. Hawaii's fresh water, sparkling pure and artesian, is the finest on earth.

Mr. Orton was impressed with the beauty and cleanliness of the islands, but most of all with the friendliness of the people.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Phillips took a most delightful trip into Mexico, going as far as Mexico City. They had reservations to go farther, but when they received word that their daughter, Frankie's son, John Frank, had spinal meningitis they cancelled their reservations and returned. John Frank has made a complete recovery now. Rev. Geisler, Frankie's husband, is pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lyford, Texas.

The Phillips drove into Mexico and found the roads paved, but not as good as our roads. The bridges are narrow. There is room enough for two cars to pass, but not room enough for a car and a truck, after a little while, Mrs. Phillips said they found out that the car that blinked its lights first when approaching a bridge had the right of way.

Mrs. Phillips said their lodgings were always good and the food in most places was good. That the people of Mexico were most cordial and accommodating; that if they could not understand what a particular food was, they would go to the kitchen and bring it out for them to see.

They visited two colleges in Saltillo, capitol of the State of Coahuila; one a technological college and an agriculture college, a jewelry factory and a serape factory.

Mrs. Phillips said it was hard to believe how primitive these factories are and what beautiful work they turn out.

In Monterrey they visited the oldest cathedral and the newest and most modern cathedral, and there was quite a contrast, Mrs Phillips said.

Most of the people could not speak English but nearly everyone had learned to say "How do you like Mexico?" in English.

They said they found the climate wonderful, never cold and never hot. That once they encountered a bad fog—they could hardly see ten feet ahead, but this was the only bad weather they had on their trip.

Mrs. Phillips said they intended to go back to Mexico next year and complete the trip they had planned for this year.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Stevenson visited their daughter, Nell, and her family, the Fred Jennings, in Phoenix, Arizona. They found them all well and liking Phoenix. The Stevensons had a wonderful time with their two grandchildren, Scotty, 7 years old, and Margo, 4 years old. They liked the climate in Phoenix and the beautiful scenery.

Mr. Jennings works for the Goodyear Aircraft Corporation and Nell has recently started working for the Selected Securities organization.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Buchanan are moving into their new home at 2400 Tenth Avenue. The house is finished in American Beauty brick and has a combined kitchen and den, service porch, a room which Mr. Buchanan says is for his dogs and flowers, but which could be used as an additional bedroom, two bedrooms, bath, living room and dining room. One end of the dining room has a beautiful built-in mahogany cabinet. An unusual feature is a built-in TV set. This is built in the ceiling of the bedroom so TV can be watched while in bed. They also have a Wurlitzer organ they enjoy.

Mr. Buchanan runs the railway at Palo Duro Park.

The British have started a new big TV network which will carry commercials. In the past the British have not carried commercials on TV. These commercials are limited to six one-minute periods per hour. And most interesting of all: Every TV screen will be blank from 6 to 7 p. m. each day, so that parents can persuade their children to come to supper.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hull and their two sons, Andrew, four years old, and Christopher, two years old, have moved into their new home at 2406 Tenth Ave. Mr. Hull, who is manager of the Southwestern Public Service Co., says the home is a G.I. Cape Cod. It is finished in red brick and has three bedrooms, bath, living room, combined kitchen and dining room, and a fireplace. The inside finish is Early American.

The Hulls moved to Canyon 2½ years ago and Mr. Hull is now president of Canyon's Chamber of Commerce, which he is serving most efficiently.

There is a new mattress now on the market which is said to be the only bed in the world you can make just the way you want it. It is made of U. S. Koylon Foam and is supported not by springs, but by an air foundation which you can blow up as firm as you want or as soft as you want it. For the double bed the foundation is divided and one side can be blown up hard, the other side soft, or both sides can be blown the same. You simply add air or release air to either side to make it as soft or as firm as you like. It is said this foundation will not break down or wear out.

The American Cancer Society's 1955 Crusade will open this year with 10-second pause in memory of those who lost their lives to cancer.

The purpose of the Society this year will be to remind us that cancer can be controlled and ultimately defeated if we all work together toward that end.

Leaflets will be distributed containing life-saving facts about cancer.

The people of Canyon have a part in this crusade against a disease which will take the lives of 235,000 Americans this year.

The American Cancer Society seeks to raise $24,000,000 during April to finance its programs of research, education, and service. The goal for Canyon is $800.

Dr. Ples Harper is chairman for Canyon this year, and will start the campaign for our quota the second week of April.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Duncan and their eight year old daughter, Lorna Rey, have moved to their new home at 2417 Tenth Avenue. The house is finished in American Beauty red brick and has three bedrooms, a bath, utility room, living room, dining room and kitchen with a half partition between the kitchen and dining room. Mr. Duncan is with the Imperial Chevrolet Co., and Mrs. Duncan teaches in the Amarillo public schools.

SOME BEACH

The Arab met an American tourist clad only in bathing trunks, plodding through the Sahara.

"Where are you going, effendi?" asked the Arab.

'For a swim," the American answered.

"For a swim," echoed the Arab in astonishment. "But the ocean is a thousand miles from here."

"A thousand miles!" gasped the American tourist. "Gee, this is sure some beach!"

A Social Pledge Charles Boling Is

ABILENE: Charles Boling, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Boling of Canyon, has been invited to pledge a social club at McMurry College.

Boling, a freshman student at the Methodist school, is pledging Ko Sari, men's social club organized on the campus in 1936.

Purpose of McMurry's nine social clubs for men and women students, according to vice-president W. B. McDaniel, is to promote social and cultural growth among their members, and to boost fellowship and school spirit at the college.

WARNS RED CHINESE

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, in Formosa, recently warned Communist China of the price the United States would make it pay if it sought to take Formosa and the Pescadores Islands. He said the United States is ready to make an all-out defense of the islands and to strike at the mainland source of any aggression. The Secretary was in Formosa for the signing of the mutual defense treaty with the Chinese Nationalists.

CIGARETTE USE

Cigarette smoking appears to have been discouraged to some extent by medical contentions that there is a relation between heavy smoking and cancer. In a report on the tobacco situation, the Agriculture Department said cigarette consumption declined about five per cent in 1954 and that the number of filter-tip cigarettes smoked last year was about seven times as great as in 1952.

GUIDED-MISSILE WARSHIPS

The U. S. Navy expects to have the first of two guided-missile-firing cruisers ready for anti-aircraft duty in July of this year and the second later in the year. Completion of the project to convert the heavy cruisers, Boston and Canberra, presumably will make the American fleet the first of any world power to possess guided-missile ships.

APRIL DRAFT QUOTA

The draft call for April of 8,000 men is the lowest monthly quota announced by the Defense Department since selective service resumed in Sept., 1950. The April call is 3,000 lower than the 11,000 quotas previously announced for February and March, and all of the April draftees will go into the Army.

THE AMERICAN WAY

His Real Objection!

BEEF BRIEFS

New crops are catching the eye of Texas farmers.

And the livestock man is interested in these prospective producers for Texas, too.

Government controls have farmers looking around for something that will replace the cotton and wheat which they couldn't grow this year because of the support price programs.

And lowered support programs on some other crops have caused interest in something new for those areas.

The Texas Beef Council has been showing good results in its six months' operation, judging by action of its executive committee in Dallas, March 21. They voted to continue the program along present lines.

It looks like the research experts have solved some of the problems of growing soybeans. New varieties are on the scene this year, developed both by private and public institutions.

Sesame, which caught on last year, will be on many new acres. And although castor bean supports have been cut, a goodly acreage is expected in some sections.

There's good news for Texas grain sorghum producers. Seed will be available in 1957 for the new hybrid varieties which are being developed at Texas experiment stations.

More than 150 farmers will test plant hybrids this year.

Every farmer and rancher is a sharecropper.

That's the word from an Illinois entomologist.

You're just sharecropping with insects if you don't do something to control them, says Dr. George C. Decker.

And he points out that some of the worst of these insects operate below the surface and attack the roots of plants.

Use of soil insecticides is the answer, the experts say.

Texas sheep and goat raisers are alarmed about the threat that scabies presents to their industry.

Directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association are demanding that the legislature set up a special scabies control program, providing money specifically for work on the disease.

A quarantine on Texas sheep would wreck the state's lamb production industry, they say.

Look for the Beef Council's motion picture progress report to be shown at a local cattleman's meeting sometime this Spring. Titled "Six Months of Progress," it shows the working details of how the Texas Beef Council has accomplished its results in the past six months. It was highly applauded when shown at the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers' convention in Dallas in March.

More grain storage will be available in the state this year.

A recent survey made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that Texas will have 289,962,000 bushels of storage in 1955.

A youngster had reached the age when he liked to show off to his mates his knowledge of big words.

"I'll bet you," he said to the neighborhood toughie, "that you don't know what 'expectorate' means."

ULTIMATUM

Two girls were being followed by a lone male on a beautiful Spring day. Finally one of them, in apparent indignation, turned to the young man and exclaimed, "Either you quit following us or-or-or go get a friend."

it's Karo for me, the best-tasting waffle syrup of 'em all"

Yes, indeed . . . biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious Karo waffle syrup. There's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night . . . it tops anything!
